The Key Question

“Is there a need for a collaborative platform to serve organizations working in the field of pediatric cardiac care in the developing world?”

The Research: Emerging Themes

Organizations are willing to collaborate.

Organizations do not know where other organizations are at any given time, do not share experience and expertise

Varied approaches to dealing with the problem: No consensus as to the best model of service delivery

Funding is a challenge.

Potential disconnect between medical core and NGOs
